Natural Spring Water

This water is derived from a glacial lake. The water arrives in a stainless steel food grade tanker. Our spring is EPA approved and is monitored daily. The spring water is triple filtered, Ozonated, and then bottled into a sterile bottle. Straight from the source to bottle. No processing.

Purified Distilled Water

Our Distilled Water is derived from our Spring Water source. We use steam distillation to extract the pure H2O from our source. This process expels all dissolved minerals to leave a pure, mineral free Distilled Water.

Reverse Osmosis Water

R/O water, as it is commonly referred to, is again derived from our Spring Source Water. The water is then passed through a Kinetico™ Reverse Osmosis Membrane, then through a polishing filter. The water is bottled at the source.

How is bottled water different from tap water?

Bottled water is produced and distributed as a packaged food product and made specifically for drinking. As a packaged food product, bottled water must adhere to FDA Good Manufacturing Practices (GMPs).

Each container of bottled water is produced in a sanitary environment and packaged in sanitary, safety sealed containers that are approved by FDA for food contact. Bottled water is also subject to FDA food recall, misbranding and food adulteration provisions.

Bottled water provides consumers with consistent safety, high quality, good taste and convenient portability.

Is Bottled Water Regulated?

FDA regulations, coupled with state and industry standards, offer consumers assurance that the bottled water they purchase is stringently regulated and tested, and is of the highest quality.

Is bottled water regulated differently from tap water?

Yes. Bottled water is regulated as a packaged food product by FDA and must meet all applicable food packaging regulations. EPA regulates tap water as a utility.

How long can I store bottled water?

FDA has not established a shelf life for bottled water. IBWA advises consumers to store bottled water at room temperature (or cooler), out of direct sunlight and away from solvents and chemicals such as gasoline, paint thinners and dry cleaning chemicals. Bottled water can be used indefinitely if stored properly.
Bottled water companies work hard to protect the environment, and urge those that enjoy our products to do the same.
Recycling Bottled Water

100% of bottled water containers are recyclable, where facilities exist. The larger bottles found on the water cooler at home or in the office are sanitized and can be reused an average of 50 times before the bottled water company recycles them.

Recycling at Home

For consumers that have recycling programs available through their municipality or locality, check your local phonebook to contact them and learn about recycling programs in your community and how to obtain the curbside recycling bins.

Our Environment

Recyclable materials are in high demand and help to create new goods out of old ones. Water plays a key role in routes of travel, transportation, settlement and nature.
